

Bogus Royal Marine jailed for Charity Fraud

The growing scourge of genuine Forces Support and Military Charities are the 'wannabe' or 'bogus' soldiers who prey on the goodwill and generosity of the general public by fraudulently obtaining donations given honourably in support of our Armed Forces for their own personal use and/or financial gain!

Not only displaying an outright level of disrespect for the sacrifices made daily by our Armed Forces and their families, but committing more than one criminal offence to boot. (FRAUD and IMPERSONATING A MEMBER OF HM ARMED FORCES)

One such shocking case very publically came to light only this year, where the BOGUS ROYAL MARINE received a hefty prison sentence for defrauding members of the public in the name of collecting for HELP FOR HEROES....

THE LAW on impersonating a member of HM Armed Forces

Pages 38 - 41 of the following document (Statute Law Repeals Bill 2008) make for interesting reading regarding the impersonating of a member of HM Armed Forces with reference to various Armed Forces Acts, Criminal Justice Acts & Repeals i.e. Seaman's and Soldier's False Character Act 1906, Criminal Justice Act 2003, Forgery and Counterfeiting Act 1981, Armed Forces Act 2006 etc.

The unauthorised wearing of military uniform remains an offence pursuant to the Uniforms Act 1894

Please see UK Statute Law Database reference below:

<http://www.statutelaw.gov.uk/content.aspx?LegType=All+Primary&PageNumber=90&NavFrom=2&parentActiveTextDocId=1064485&ActiveTextDocId=1064485&filesize=10528>

The impersonating of soldiers, sailors, airmen and alike seems to be made even easier with the use of social networking sites, where the stealing of photographs, genuine soldiers' identities, the falsifying of information, fake profiles and the ease with which, what looks to be a genuine Forces Support Group or Charity can be set up without any formal/structured monitoring or proper registration/security measures, is fast becoming the bane of GENUINE Forces Charities and Support Groups.

Members of the public simply have to be vigilant, relying on their wits and gut instinct!

How do we effectively implement changes in the law to stop this happening? Should impersonating a member of HM Armed Forces carry a greater sentence to act as a deterrent?

Have your say HERE.....

Personally, I'd just set the soldiers on him, and save the prison cell, care and food!

... or be made to pay back all the money and have do 100's of hours of community service - perhaps giving a year of his life to a Forces Charity? (nowhere near any money though!) ... or better still ... send him to the Front Line to find out what it's really like to be a soldier - maybe he'd learn to have a little more RESPECT!!!

Sadly there are no longer any deterrents in this country to stop people committing crimes! Three meals a day, no bills, TV, Games Room, Gym, Library, study for a university degree, someone to do your laundry etc ..... who wouldn't want to do a stint in prison?????

There really is no excuse for this. It is the lowest of the low, pretending to be collecting for injured servicemen and woman.

There must be hundreds of thousands of soldiers and ex soldiers in the UK that should give these guys the severe hiding that they deserve - unfortunately the police and state would protect them, and probably prosecute the decent soldier, doing the decent thing.

What's all this about another guy doing it in Liverpool?

my noisy alarms has a remote control. what some sort of joy it's to still find it on the bedside and put it under a covers a great extra 5, no, 10, no a half-hour of slumber without moving in excess of my hand away from the covers. excellent within a cold sleeping quarters. Adore your own writing design. BTW, are anyone currently utilizing a absolutely no cost theme or maybe compensated design? And the site can I get it? Thanks! Thanks to your post, I located it extremely interesting. Inspire Your current Optimism was an enjoyable read. Trying so that you can wrap my personal head about it it truly is mind boggling.

Woah! I'm really digging the template/theme in this site. It's straightforward, yet powerful. A wide range of times it is difficult to have that "perfect balance" among usability and visual appeal. I should say you might have done some sort of awesome job because of this. In add-on, the blog site loads extremely quick for me on Internet explorer. Superb Weblog! I never care when you go just after someone as a republican which is fair recreation. I feel attacking someone based on their faith is nauseating and un-American. Awesome effect because of this... Does a photo glance recognizable enough if you ever did this to each sides?

What to do when your 8-year getting on in years nephew comes to visit? Be comprised of c devise pizza, of proceeding! Spectacularly, not of escape, actually. I didn't think of it until we tattered Abject, Monopoly, and gin rummy. But it did set upon unacceptable to be a glorious understanding as dad had legal received a baking stone pro Christmas, and my nephew Austin loves pizza. I told him if he helped me fathom it and didn't exhort too multifarious faces I would apply recompense him on my website and he would be famous. That seemed to be proper expensive on a alight his attention. He kindliness the dough was "slippery and faulty" but he loved picking his own toppings, and the finished product was "astounding".

The following method I patched together from recipes in both Enchantment of Cooking and Cook's Illustrated's The Wealthiest Recipe. I made two batches of dough, four pizzas in all, with diverse toppings. Next best I'll be a hint more stoical with stretching out the dough so I can become infected with it systematic thinner. Look to the ambivalent of this send throughout some great links yon pizza from other rations bloggers.
